CHOOSING THE RIGHT PROGRAM

Choosing the right program is an important decision, one which depends on your personal goals. If you are presently working in your chosen field and are looking to hone your skills to advance your career, one of our certificate programs may be the right choice. These programs provide professional skills in a variety of areas and are intended for those who have an interest in gaining additional knowledge for career transition.

If, however, you are looking to enter the competitive work environment or change careers, then a degree program may be a better choice. We offer Associate and Bachelor degree programs designed to train and prepare students for successful careers in both the private and public sectors.

*For more information about our graduation rates, the median debt of students who completed the program, and other consumer important information, please visit our website at www.potomac.edu.
